Orange is a gem in Provence, renowned for its Roman monuments and breathtaking excursions through Ardeche, Gard, Vaucluse, and Drôme. The city is easily accessible by car or train and is famous for the annual opera festival, Chorégies d'Orange, held in the ancient Roman theatre. This exceptional property, built around 1850, consists of two attached residences and additional living spaces, ensuring complete privacy for the owners even when one property is rented out. Spanning one hectare, this estate provides a rural feel while being just a three-minute walk from the city centre. The estate exudes elegance and charm, nestled within a shady park that includes a tennis court and swimming pools for each house. A separate 100m² building is perfect for hosting seminars, parties, and other events, and there is a caretaker's house on the property as well.
