Nestled in the heart of the Luberon Regional Natural Park, Pierrevert is a charming hilltop village in the Alpes-de-Haute-Provence region of southeastern France. Surrounded by vineyards, olive groves, and rolling hills, it offers a peaceful Provençal escape with breathtaking views over the Durance Valley. With its narrow winding streets, sun-washed stone houses, and relaxed pace, Pierrevert captures the authentic spirit of rural Provence.

The village is renowned for its wine production and is part of the Coteaux de Pierrevert AOC, the only wine appellation in the Alpes-de-Haute-Provence. Local wineries open their doors to visitors, offering tastings of robust reds, crisp rosés, and aromatic whites that reflect the unique terroir of the region.

Pierrevert also hosts cultural events throughout the year, including a popular photography festival and local fêtes that bring the community together in celebration of heritage and tradition. The village church, Église Saint-Pierre, dating back to the 12th century, is a beautiful example of Romanesque architecture and adds to the village's timeless charm.

Whether you're wandering its tranquil streets, sipping wine under the Provençal sun, or exploring nearby hiking trails, Pierrevert offers an idyllic slice of southern French life, full of warmth and rustic beauty.
